From the Leiden Gaz. dated May 14 & 21.

Zurich May 5.

The Occasion and Subject of the two following Pieces, appears from the Pieces themselves.

Magnificent Lords,

I Make no doubt you have been inform'd of the Instances I have made to the Regents of the Canton of Berne, to prevail with them to cause to depart the Country of Vaux, all the Rebel-Subjects of the King my Master that were got together there; as soon as those Wretches were gone out of that Country, they retir'd into the Pouden-tru; I caus'd a Representation to be made to the Bishop of Basil, that seeing their Stay on his Territories might give Umbrage to the King, I hop'd he would not permit them to tarry longer there, and that Prelate was pleas'd forthwith to expel them. I know those Fellows are actually in your laudable Canton, and that most of them have their Abode even in your laudable Town; I intreat you therefore, magnificent Lords, to be pleas'd to give Order that they stay there no longer, but that they forthwith depart your Territories: They are Rebel-Subjects of the King, Men that declare publicly they wait on your Territories only for Orders from the Potentates that are Enemies of his Majesty. All this makes me hope, you will give me Occasion to send him an Account of the Regard which I flatter my self you will have for the Instances I now make to you; it being besides conformable to your Alliance with his Majesty. I can assure you beforehand, he will take it very kindly of you; I shall my self preserve a grateful Remembrance of it, and shall esteem my self very happy if you will give me an Opportunity to shew full Proof of that Gratitude.

I pray God to prosper you in all that may be most advantageous to you,

Magnificent Lords,

Yours affectionately to serve you,

Soluthurn, Apr. 19. 1705.

PUISIEUX.

Magnificent Lords,

After returning most humble Thanks to your Lordships, for having been pleas'd to communicate to me the Letter which the Marquis de Puisseux, Ambassador of France has written to you against the poor considerable Band that has taken Refuge in your Territories under the Protection of your Lordships, I beg Leave to assure you with the utmost Respect, that we are very sensible of the Favour your Magnificent Lordships have shewn in charitably affording Harbour to poor Refugees, and owning them for Brethren, notwithstanding the Endeavours us'd to render them odious, by imputing Crimes to them from which they could easily justify themselves did they stand in need of an Apology to you: But your Lordships are sufficiently inform'd of the Grounds of the Com-motions in the Sevens, in which these unhappy Men had never engag'd, had they not been prosecuted and worry'd to go to Mass, for that is call'd obeying the King; not to go to Mass, is to disobey him, 'tis Rebellion. 'Tis true they took up Arms to defend themselves against the Violences offer'd to their Consciences, and for that they are more to be pitied than blam'd: But without entring into Discussions of this Nature I demand whether there is any Reason to treat as Rebels Men that were caress'd in France, that were won by Promises, and were conducted under good Guards into Switzerland; we say nothing in this but what is true, and known to all the World; and yet these very Men are the Miscreants and Rebels so much vilified, and follow'd by Persecutions into foreign Countrys, even into your laudable Canton where we ought to be unmolested.

Magnificent Lords, we are ready to depart from hence, whenever your Lordships shall command us; we have even taken Measures to procure a Retreat elsewhere, and only wait for an Answer from Inspruch, which we shall have in a few Days; till that Answer come permit us, if it please your Magnificent Lordships, to sojourn in your chief Town; and be perswaded of our most respectful Acknowledgment, and that we will always pray for the Prosperity of your Lordships.
